

Who Masters the Would Be Master?

By Mark Edgemon

My need to know outweighs my right of ignorance,
Pressing forward with great might and focus,
I stand perfectly still, unable to move the barrier
Firmly planted in my path.

As pressures of the day enlarge my mind
And motivates my every thought and glance,
I learn that in stillness, I hear, I understand
Until the barrier had served it's purpose.

The End