

One Thing I Know

By Marla J. Deaton

I don't know anything
Everything I thought was right
Turned out wrong.

Everything I was taught
Seems to have turned to naught
I finally find something true
Then instead of one side, I see two.

But with all my indecision
I have one thing to hold on to
I know that you love me
And that's all I need to know.

If there's never...nothing
In my life that's sure
It's enough that I can endure
Because I know for sure
You love me.

I know...you love me.
