

Co-in-sin-dance?

(By You Decide)

By Robin B Lipinski

Tear of eye matching salty spray.
Sea flows by fetal beating.
Gills showing a past, tell me of this reason?

Grain to feed progress of man.
Tell, where did it all come from?
Evolution? "Yes."
Creation? "What, are you daft?"

Ancestors beating drum to sky.
Showing belief in some higher reason.
Killing those to prove...

Dogs breeding from ancestral wolf.
Now tell me, do you believe them?
Pigs and cow.
Sheep and fowl.
My, this story is strange.

A water planet, placed next to a sun, whatever could be the reason.
A moon to stir the sea.
Rain to cool the fire.
Life so vast and plenty.
There must be a reason.

It matters not what you believe.
Or how you seek your own reason.
What matters most is to make the most, to learn live and die.
You disagree?

I see.

For some, it is to shed a tear holding their newborn child.
For others, it is to kill those who disagree.
But I think beyond what we think, there is a larger reason.

The End